

Let us not grow weary while doing good, for in due season we shall reap if we do not lose heart.

Galatians 6:9 (NKJV)

Do you get tired of doing things with no one giving their appreciation for them? Do you feel that you are working at your job for nothing? Does your spouse seem not to take notice of little things you have done?

This happens to all of us, but the Bible tells us “not to grow weary while doing good.” We need to continue to do well; doing the best that we can at whatever we are doing. Our rewards are coming. In due season (at the proper time), we will be able to collect our rewards; to reap, or harvest, what we have sowed.

So if your employer, spouse or friend forgets to say ‘thank you,’ or give you that ‘slap on the back,’ keep your chin up. Keep looking up. Stay in good cheer.

The best is yet to come.
